Let's Start!

Let's review!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about people's backgrounds in a wider variety of communicative situations.

Ask your partner:

- Who is your best friend? How long have you known each other?
- Do you like dancing? Why or why not?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about life experiences.
- I can talk about things that I'm supposed to do and things that are supposed to happen.
- I can talk about my attitudes toward an action.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa is glad she found a way to let her hair down!

* When you "let your hair down" you enjoy having fun without thinking about work or other responsibilities.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: Did you have a good weekend, Jose?
- Jose: I did, thank you. It was very cold, but I had fun. It was a shock the first couple of weeks, but I can get by with my coat now.
- Vanessa: Going out when it's freezing outside is something you're supposed to enjoy here! Personally, I prefer to lie on the beach. Anyway, what did you do?
- Jose: I went ice skating, and I made a new friend. He's a Colombian student as well, so I told him that he was supposed to keep at it and try to talk to people as much as possible.
- Vanessa: That's great! You guys can hang out whenever you feel homesick.
- Jose: Yes. That should make up for missing all my friends back home. It's nice to dress up and go dancing, too.
- Vanessa: Maybe the two of you should teach us some moves. We could turn the dining area into a dance floor after closing time.
- Jose: That would be great. I look forward to teaching all of you. We love sharing our passion for dancing.
- Vanessa: You should be prepared to put up with some slow learners. Bruce and I aren't very good dancers!
- Jose: That's not a problem. It's supposed to be a fun activity.
- Vanessa: Let's give it a try. I need to find more ways to let my hair down a bit.
- Jose: Your hair looks fine like that.
- Vanessa: That's an expression, Jose ... It means having fun.

Let's Practice!

Explaining about things we love to do.

Learning Points

Inseparable Phrasal Verbs

Phrasal verbs consist of a verb and one or more prepositions. They are common, especially in informal spoken English. The meaning of phrasal verbs is often completely different from the meaning of the verb alone.

Separable phrasal verbs consist of two parts. They always require an object.

Inseparable phrasal verbs are very common. The verb must be directly followed by its preposition or adverb. Otherwise, the meaning of the phrasal verb will be incorrect. Some inseparable phrasal verbs never use an object.

Examples:

- get up = get out of bed
I get up at seven o'clock every morning.
- take off = leave the ground
The plane took off on time.
- look out = beware! be careful!
Look out! That car is going to hit you!

You can use the following inseparable phrasal verbs to describe life experiences.

Phrasal Verb	Meaning
to keep at	to continue doing something to make up for	to compensate for something missing
to put up with	to tolerate
to dress up	to wear elegant clothes
to get by with	to manage with little effort
to look forward to	to eagerly anticipate something

Examples:

- I had a shock the first couple of weeks, but I can get by with my coat now.
- It's nice to dress up and go dancing, too.

Learning Points

Verb + -ing and to + verb

A gerund is a noun made by adding "-ing to the base form of a verb." You can use a gerund as the subject, the complement, or the object of a sentence.
The infinitive is the base form of a verb - "to + verb".

A gerund is the -ing form of a verb that acts as a noun. The noun refers to an activity instead of a person or thing. You can use a gerund as the subject, the complement, or the object of a sentence.

Examples:

Subject of sentence:

Going out when it's freezing outside is something you're supposed to enjoy here!

Object of sentence:

We love sharing our passion for dancing.

An infinitive is a verb form that can act as a noun. It is formed with to + base form of the verb.

Example: to talk, to enjoy, to play

You cannot add s, es, ed, or ing to the end. It is not a verb.

Example:

I need to find more ways to let my hair down a bit.

I prefer to lie down on the beach.
