

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Everybody around the world knows the most important rule of the service industry!

Learning Outcome

Exchange information about people's interests and backgrounds using a wider range of language.

Ask your partner:

- What are some rules and regulations that are unique to your country?
- Would you like to live in a place that has fewer or more rules and regulations? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about rules and regulations.
- I can talk about life experiences.
- I can talk about things that I'm supposed to do and things that are supposed to happen.

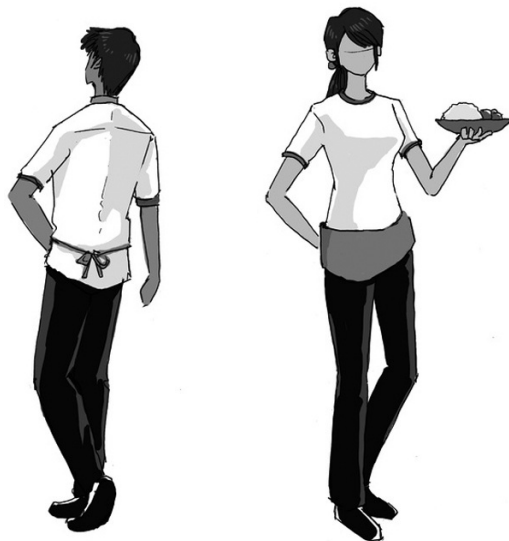

Let's Explore!

Jose is getting a crash course on North American etiquette.

* When you get a "crash course" on something, you learn the important facts quickly.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa: Jose, I think your training is coming along quite well. However, as a new trainee, you should spend some time hanging around with one of the more senior waiters.
- Jose: I think it's a good idea. I hope they won't look down on me, though.
- Vanessa: Why would they? They are all in the service industry for a reason. They're supposed to uphold certain standards of excellence. Sharing information with their new colleagues is something they're supposed to do. I'll introduce you to Frank, one of our Maitre d's. He's our best employee. You should learn a lot from him.
- Jose: I am sure I will. I had a mentor in Colombia, too. I really looked up to him as well. For example, he gave me pointers on how to put up with difficult customers in any situation.
- Vanessa: I know all about difficult customers and picky eaters, trust me. You know what we say in English, right?
- Jose: Hmm ... The customer is almost right?
- Vanessa: Always, not almost. You're supposed to keep smiling even when you have to deal with terrible patrons. Obviously, you shouldn't talk back either.
- Jose: Of course not! That's a big no-no in Colombia, too.
- Vanessa: Great. I'm supposed to deal with some suppliers on the phone. I'll leave you with Frank. His service is impeccable yet unobtrusive.

Let's Practice!

Jose makes some suggestions.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Correct the mistake. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. You should spending some time hanging around with one of the more senior waiters.

2. They're supposed to uphold certain adjustments of excellence.

3. Sharing patrons with their new colleagues is something they're supposed to do.

4. Keep smiling even when you have to deal terrible patrons.

5. You shouldn't talking back either.

6. I'm deal with some suppliers on the phone.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa gives us some important vocabulary.

Instructions: Read the definitions. Select the word or expression which means the same. Choose them from the Word Bank.

Word Bank

to look down on / to hang around / to look up to / trainee / to talk back

1. Someone undergoing training. _____.
2. To spend time with someone. _____.
3. To feel superior to someone. _____.
4. To respect or admire someone. _____.
5. To respond in an impolite way to someone. _____.

Extension Activity

Write about someone who was your mentor when you were growing up.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a paragraph 6 to 8 sentences long.
- Who was your most important mentor when you were young?
- Why did you pick this person?
- What problems did your mentor help you with?
- What rules and regulations did they teach you?
- Use at least five phrasal verbs.
- Share your story with your partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I talk about a mentor.

☐ ☐

I explain why I picked the person.

☐ ☐

I use phrasal verbs

☐ ☐

Target Words

- trainee (noun): someone undergoing training
e.g. As a new trainee, you should spend some time with a senior waiter.
- to hang around (verb): to spend time with someone e.g. As a new trainee, you should hang around with a senior waiter.
- to look down on (verb): to feel superior to someone e.g. I hope the senior waiters won't look down on me because I'm a trainee.
- to look up to (verb): respect, admire someone e.g. I had a mentor in Colombia that I really looked up to you.
- to talk back (verb): respond in an impolite way
e.g. Servers should not talk back to customers.
- to put up with (verb): to tolerate
e.g. You have to put up with difficult customers.
- impeccable (adjective): without any faults
e.g. His service is impeccable.
- unobtrusive (adjective): unnoticeable
e.g. He is an unobtrusive server.
Patrons barely notice him.

Learning Points

Inseparable Phrasal Verbs

A phrasal verb is made from a verb and one more particles. Particles and prepositions look the same but they have different jobs. Prepositions DO NOT change the meaning of the main verb. Particles usually change the meaning of the main verb.

Phrasal verbs can be separable or inseparable.

With a separable phrasal verb, the object can go after the particle or between the verb and the particle.

Example:

I picked out a dress. or I picked a dress out.

NOTE: If the object is a pronoun, it must go between the particle and the verb.

Example:

I picked it out. NOT I picked out it.

The verb must be directly followed by its preposition or adverb. Otherwise, the meaning of the phrasal verb will be incorrect.

Some inseparable phrasal verbs never use an object.

Examples:

- call off = cancel

They called off the meeting.

- pick out = choose

I picked out a new dress.

- take away = remove

Please take away that garbage.

You can use the following inseparable phrasal verbs to describe life experiences.

Phrasal Verb	Meaning
to hang around	to spend time with someone to look down on	to feel superior to someone to look up to	to admire someone
to talk back	to answer impolitely
to put up with	to tolerate

Examples:

- I really looked up to my mentor.

Learning Points

- For example, he gave me pointers on how to put up with difficult customers in any situation.

Should and Be Supposed To

You use the modal should or the structure be supposed to when you want to talk about expectations, obligations or arrangements.

You can use be supposed to to talk about situations in the present or future that are expected to happen.

The structure is:

Subject + To be + supposed to + verb

Sharing information with their new colleagues is something they're supposed to do.

*Pronunciation tip:

When you say be supposed to, you link the /d/ and /t/ sounds together.

Like this:

Be suppose_to

Examples:

- You're supposed to keep smiling even when you have to deal with terrible patrons.
- Obviously, you shouldn't talk back either.

